☞ Handbills, Blanks, and Printing in general, executed with neatness, accuracy and dispatch.

Five Dollars Reward.

ON the 4th of April a young woman, who called herself Elizabeth Johnston, purchased from a merchant in this place sundry articles, amongst which were a Blue Umbrella and White Cambric Muslin. When she was questioned where she lived, she replied within two miles of Andrew Jack's on the Ohio; and as there is no person in that neighbourhood of that name, the presumption is, that she has given a fictitious one, and assumed the name of a woman in the neighbourhood of Pine creek, from which circumstance it is thought she lives over the Allegheny river—as the names of A. Jack and E. Johnston were familiar to her. The above reward will be paid for giving information to the printer hereof. May 4, 1807.

TO THE

Friends of that noble and useful animal,

THE HORSE.

THE subscriber, BLACKSMITH, FARRIER, AND PROFESSOR OF THE VETERINARY ART, after long experience, successful and extensive practice in that sublime science, has been induced to offer his services to the public at large, and of Pittsburgh in particular, in all diseases or accidents, from whatever cause arising, to which that beautiful and noble creature, the horse, can possibly be subject, whether external or internal.

Although it is always best, at all times, to call for the assistance of the veterinarian professor, on the first symptoms of disorder, or immediately after an accident, yet the science is now brought to such perfection, that the owner of a good horse or cow ought never to despair while there is life: for without quackery or imposition, it may truely be said, that the medicines are so powerful and efficacious, that they bid defiance to the most obstinate case, and will resist every thing but destiny or fate, to which proud man must himself must submit.

The chirurgical part of the profession will be performed with the utmost dexterity. Trimming, Docking, Cropping, Hogging, Cutting, Nicking, Burning and Bloodletting done to the greatest nicety at the shortest notice, and on the most reasonable terms.

Race horses plated in the handsomest manner, and with the greatest ease to the foot. This requires the particular attention of the lovers of the turf, as it is very certain many good horses have lost a race for want of being well plated.

The public's most obedient and most Humble Servant,

JOHN M'CLELLAND,

In Third Street, between Market and Wood Streets, Pittsburgh.

April 29, 1807.

NOTICE.

AS I have declined business for some time, I wish all those who have any demands to come and receive payment, and those who are indebted to come forward and discharge their accounts. Those who neglect this notice may rest assured that they will be proceeded against according to law. JOHN WILLS.

The property will be disposed of low for cash. The title is indisputable. For terms apply to WILLIAM C. LARWILL, Attorney at Law, at the Post Office, Fawcett's Town, State of Ohio, who has several other Tracts of Land for Sale in this neighbourhood.

August 15, 1806. tf

On Thursday, the 22d ult. was left with the subscriber, living at Craig's Ferry, on the Monongahela, opposite Pittsburgh, by a young man, who calls himself William M'Kelvey, a dun coloured MARE, supposed to be about 14 hands high; also, a Saddle almost new, with a Bridle and Saddle-bags. He said he would return in the evening, but since which time I have not seen or heard from him. I hereby give public notice, that unless the said M'Kelvey, comes forward in three weeks from this date and pays the expence of keeping said Mare, she will be sold to defray the expences which have and may accrue.

Law of Pennsylvania,

PASSED AT THE LAST SESSION.

A Supplement to the Act, entitled, "An Act directing the mode of selecting and returning jurors."

Sec. 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That it shall be the duty of the assessors of the several townships and districts, within this commonwealth, and of the assessors of the several wards in the city of Philadelphia, and of each borough, to return the names of all the white male taxable citizens, liable to serve as jurors, of competent ability, understanding, and knowledge of the English language, to the county commissioners of their respective counties; and it shall be the duty of the county commissioners aforesaid, to deposit the names of the persons so returned to them, in the proper wheels, in proportion to the number requisite. Each and every assessor, or county commissioner, who shall neglect or refuse to perform the duties assigned to him by this act, shall forfeit and pay the sum of 50 dollars, for every such neglect or refusal: Provided always, That the said comissioners and assessors, before they proceed to the duties assigned to them, by this act, shall be sworn or affirmed, to a faithful discharge thereof.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, &c. That whenever any process shall be issued, for summoning a jury in any of the courts, immediately on receiving the same, give notice thereof to the county commissioners, who, or any two of them, with the sheriff, shall proceed to draw out of the proper wheel as many of the slips of paper therein contained, as there are jurors to be summoned upon such process; and the names contained on such slips of paper shall be the persons who are to be summoned to serve as jurors at the then next court; unless any of them shall be dead, or shall have changed their place of residence to any other county, or be absent from the county; And if the persons named on any of the said slips of paper, so drawn, shall be dead or removed; then they shall destroy such slips of paper, and proceed to draw out of the said wheel, until the pannel shall be completed. And it shall be duty of the sheriff to summon the several persons whose names are so drawn out, at least ten days previous to the sitting of any such court, and to make return in what manner he has served such process.

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted, &c. That the prothonotaries, or clerks, of the several courts, shall after the end of each term or session, certify to the sheriff and commissioners, the names of the jurors who appeared and served at such court; and also those who made default, or were excused from serving, or were privileged, or exempted from serving on juries: And the names of those who made default, or were excused from serving shall be returned immediately to the wheel from which they were drawn; and those who were privileged, or exempted from serving, shall not again be put into the wheel.

Sec. 4. And be it further enacted, &c. That the said assessor shall, at the end of every term of three years, and oftener, if all the names shall be sooner drawn from the said wheels, make return, in the manner aforesaid, of all the taxable citizens qualified, as herein before mentioned; and the names of the persons so returned shall again be deposited in the proper wheels: Provided, That if the name of any person shall be drawn from the wheel, who has served as a juror within one year, preceding the said drawing, he shall not be compelled to serve; but his name shall be returned to the wheel, and another drawn in his stead.

Sec. 5. And be it further enacted, &c. That the number of special jurors to be drawn, summoned, and returned, to serve in the court of common pleas of Philadelphia county, and in the court of nisi prius holden in said county, shall be 48; and the number of general or common jurors shall not be less than 48, nor more than 60; and in any other county, not less than 36, nor more than 60.

Sec. 6. And be it further enacted, &c. That this act shall take effect at the first term or sessions, in each county, to be holden after the first day of January next; from and after which day, so much of the act to which this is a supplement, as is hereby altered or supplied, be, and the same is hereby, repealed; Provided, That the 5th sectioon of this act go into operation, at the first drawing of jurors, after the last day of May next.

RICHMOND, May 1.

Hail Storm on Wednesday.

On the afternoon of that day we had a very severe hail storm, which came from the South. The hail was of considerable size; and did some execution on the pains of Glass. About 8 o'clock at night, the same scene returned. Such streams of incessant and vivid lightning; such ratling peals of thunder; we have seldom before witnessed. Amidst this uproar of the elements, our citizens were suddenly alarmed by the cry of FIRE!! The scene was awfully picturesque.

The lightening, it seems, had struck a large house on the north side of the market bridge, occupied as a vendue store by Messrs. Darmstadt, Foster and Satchel. No one in the house was killed, though two of them distinctly felt the electric shock. The citizens turned out with an alacrity which does them honor—and, though the house was so situated that the fire-engine could not play upon the angle of the roof, where it was struck, the fire was soon got under by the aid of buckets: a signal refutation of the old vulgar opinion, that the fire of lightning, is not to be extinguished by water.—We apprehend, that this high wind has occasioned considerable damage upon the coast.

BALTIMORE, May 2.

On Wednesday last, about 3 o'clock took place the most tremendious Hurricane or Whirlwind ever experienced in this country. At the the Fork Meeting-House, called the Methodist meeting, near the dwelling of Aquila Hall, Esq. were swept away seventeen houses, and several large trees and fences were swept off—in fact, not a single vestige is left in that thriving place except the meeting-house and dwelling house of C. Gorsuch. The hurricane continued its course from thence northerly across the gunpowder falls to Hartford county; and, lamentable to tell! the devastation committed in blowing down trees and fences, and entirely destroying the property of David Lee, Junr. living near the Friends' Meeting house, in said county, &c.

LANCASTER, May 1.

In the course of this week we have experienced repeated and violent gusts of rain, accompanied with severe thunder and lightning. On Wednesday afternoon one of the back buildings of Mr. Sherer's distillery at the upper end of North Queen street, was partially struck, by which the windows were broken, a large pipe of gin burst, and three hogs in a stye adjoining instantaniously killed. Several people in the neighbourhood were either "knocked down" or very sensibly affected—but no person bears any mark of injury.

We are just informed that the storm on Wednesday in the neighbourhood of Pequea has been more tremendous than any thing ever remembered. houses have been entirely blown down and Buckley and some of his neighbours, it is said, have suffered considerably.

PHILADELPHIA, May 7.

CAPTURE OF MONTEVIEDO.

[From the Providence Gazette, May 2.]

Wednesday last arrived here the ship Favorite, Capt. Russel, in 55 days from St. Salvadore, a Portuguese settlement on the coast of Brasil. Capt Russel has obligingly favoured us with the following interesting intelligence.

On the 14th of December last an English squadron of 21 sail arrived at Rio de Janeiro, among which were the Ardent, of 60 guns, Commodore Donelly; the Unicorn frigate, and sloop of war, the rest transports. The troops on board were commanded by Gen. Auchmuty, an American by birth, and Gen. Lumney; the first was authorised to act as Governor of the district of Monteviedo, should it be under the dominion of the English. The number of troops was reported to be 6000, but from a variety of circumstances it is probable they did not exceed 3000. Great dispatch was used in watering, and the squadron sailed for the river Plate on the 22d of December. The ardour of the troops was highly excited at the recital of the cruelties perpetrated by the Spaniards on the re-capture of Buenos Ayres, a spirit appeared to be universal among them for taking ample vengeance. The Favourite sailed from St. Salvadore on the 5th of March, on the morning of which day an arrival from Rio Grande, in a passage of thirty-six days, brought intelligence, that Monteviedo was in the hands of the English. By comparing dates, it is probable that it fell between the 10th and 20th January. The news of the capture of this place was brought to Rio Grande by an English vessel, which was dispatched there by the conquerers for provisions. The private letters received at St. Salvadore mentioned that the place sustained a close seige of 6 days and was at length carried by storm. They also implied, that the violences committed after the capitulation of Buenos Ayres were fully retaliated. It would seem, from the want of provisions the English suffered after the fall of Monteviedo, that their power could not extend far into the country.

The Spaniards were extremely exasperated against the Americans, on account of the part acted by certain individuals in the conquest of Buenos Ayres, and an American vessel arrived from Monteviedo while the Favorite lay at Rio de Janeiro, which had been permitted by the English to proceed to the former place; she gave information, that on her approach to the batteries she was brought to, and a boat dispatched to inform her, that if she continued within reach of the guns another hour, they would certainly sink her.

The Turkish War.—By Captain Cook, who arrived at Salem on Wednesday last from Palermo in Sicily, we have some additional particulars respecting the new war which has been commenced between the Turks and Russians, which is likely soon to assume a high degree of interest and importance. The Turks are doubtless considered as acting a part assigned to them by Bonaparte; and, as was to be expected, the Britsh have made a common cause with the Russsians against them. We have already had some accounts of the progress of the Russian arms, uuder gen. Michelson, in the direct rout for Constantinople. Capt. C. further informs us of the co-operation of a naval force in the expedition against the Ottoman capital. Dispatches had arrived at Sicily, with orders for Sir Sidney Smith to join Admiral Duckworth, and sail with all possible speed for Dardanelles, to act in concert with the Russians against the Porte; and they sailed, in consequence, on the 26th of January. We do not know the amount of the British force. The Russians were stated to have 25 sail of men of war in the Mediterranean, on board of which was a considerable number of troops: and it was expected that in conjunction they would attack the Dardanelles, and pass up to Constantinople. In the mean time fears were entertained for the safety of Admiral Louis, who with a small squadron was, by the last advices, above Constantinople, and who might therefore be arrested on his return to the Archipelago, if the Turks should be apprized in season of the hostility of Great Britain.

Of the war between the French and Russians no intelligence could be obtained in that quarter, to be relied on. The accounts were such as had passed through French channels, and in general represent Bonaparte as having met with little or no obstruction in his victorious career.

Our countrymen in Sicily were highly gratified at receiving, in London prints of the 5th Jan. official accounts of the conclusion of a Treaty between Gaeat Britain and America; the more so, as the Paris papers a few days previous had represented the negociation as likely to fail, and a rupture between the two countries as almost unavoidable. At the same time there was considerable murmuring among the British on the occasion; for, though the conditions of the treaty were unknown, yet there was a general impression that the American ministers had got the advantage in the negociation, and that the interest of Old England had not been properly maintained.

Business at Naples and Leghorn was extremely dull, and nearly stagnated at the former place, by means of the continual contributions levied on the merchants by the new government.—Salem Gaz.

AWFUL EXPLOSION.

[The following account of a most awful explosion of gun-powder, on board a vessel in the Rappenberg canal, at Leyden, in Holland, we copy from one of our late English papers.]

SCHEEDAM, Jan. 13.

Last night, about five o'clock, the inhabitants of this city were alarmed by a most violent concussion, proceeding as it was thought from the north west. The windows of several houses here were forced open by the shock.—At first it was imagined that the powder magazine at Delft had blown up; but after the lapse of a few hours, it appeared that all was tranquil in that city. To-day we learn, with horror and astonishment, that the most magnificent port of Leyden was the scene of this terrific explosion. It seems that a vessel laden with 10,000lbs. weight of gunpowder from Amsterdam, destined for Delft, and then laying in the Rapenberg canal there, by some means took fire, and instantly blew up, destroying all the houses in the vicinity of the canal, and occasioning the premature death of some hundreds of the inhabitants. When this account was written, the flames were said to be still raging. Of 60 children in a boarding school, five or six only are said to have been saved, but scorched dreadfully. Some say that the university is nearly destroyed, and that the Jewish synagogue is reduced to ashes. Of the vessel, on board of which were the owner's two sons and a servant, not an atom is visible.

JANUARY 20.

It is our melancholy task again to advert to the dismal catastrophe which occurred at Leyden, on Monday the 12th instant, and to confess that no pen can exaggerate the horrors of that mournful scene. We are credibly informed, by eye-witnesses, that scarcely a single house or building has escaped without damage; and that on the Rapenberg, where the deplorable event occurred, the houses to a large extent are levelled with the ground. At the awful moment, many families were sitting at dinner with their friends, and thus precipitated into eternity; fathers, mothers, children, servants, all were rapidly hurried into one promiscuous grave.—Husbands have lost their consorts and their offspring and wives their husbands and their sires. Of the number of the dead, various conjectures have been formed; many respectable persons have been dug out, and others are known to lie still in the ruins. Among the dead are several of the most respectable families in the city, and many strangers then on visits. Property to a large amonnt has been lost, great part of which irrecoverably; and many of the necessaries of life spoilt by the showers of broken glass which filled the shops and apartments.

The King on learning the accident, instantly repaired thither in person, after having ordered the guards and fire engines to follow. He remained the whole night in the streets, not without shedding tears of commisseration and assisting in person to recover and release those who lay buried in the ruins, and encouraged others by rewards to exert themselves in the glorious work of humanity. Provisions, money, artificers, every thing has been sent from the Hague and other cities, to comfort and relieve the wretched sufferers. A few have had wonderful escapes; while others, on the point of being rescued, while blessing Providence for their preservation, while promising rewards for their deliverers, were crushed to death by the sudden falling of beams imperceptibly resting on or withheld by obstacles which had been removed. Close to the vessel which blew up, a yacht, on board of which was 15 or 20 persons, not a vestige of whom was to be found.

The cause of this dreadful catastrophe no one can ascertain or conjecture. The quantity of powder on board is estimated at about 40,000lb. weight, which was fatally and unaccountably confided to the care of two young men, brothers, and a servant man.

Two professors of the University are stated to have been killed, and several other persons in that celebrated seminary.—It being fortunately vacation, great numbers of the students were absent; and those who were present, are said to have escaped.

The King, with that peculiar goodness which characterises him, repaired for the second time to Leyden, on Friday last; visited the wounded and maimed, ascended the ruins, mixed with the labourers there, and encouraged them to persevere in their unwearied diligence—On receiving the thanks of the magistrates and clergy, he returned them the most amicable answer, asked after individual losses, and left them with these words:—"The dead I cannot restore to you; that is above human power; but all that I can, will I do for your city."—His majesty made an offer of the palace in the wood to such respectable persons as had been deprived of their habitation, or which were rendered uninhabitable; an offer which has likewise been accepted with gratitude.

His majesty has empowered the magistrates of this unfortunate city to make a general collection throughout the whole kingdom; and ordered that 100,000 gilders, out of the Treasury, be left to the disposition of the minister of the home department, for relieving the most pressing necessities of the poor, and those who have lost their all.

Several persons have been taken out alive from under the ruins; but some expired almost immediately afterwards. Great numbers still lie buried, the rubbish forming such vast heaps, that a considerable time will be required to clean them.

After the explosion, which was awful in the extreme, several fires broke out by the scattering of the lighted turf and coal in the hearths; and this calamity unfortunately drew off, for a while, the attention of the citizens to their suffering fellow crertures, pining and lamenting beneath the ruins of their habitations, but shortly before the seat of hilarity and social intercourse.

A Jewish school suffered considerably: sixteen children in it are said to have lost their lives. A Charity school near it met the same fate. Dead bodies of children near the spot are discovered from time to time. Fifty children at a boarding school narrowly escaped by the collission of two walls which snpported the beams and roof; two however were crushed to death, and a third died shortly afterwards in its fathers arms. Those who were saved, rushed into the court yard, where they were shortly afterwards joined by their eager but trembling parents, and there ensued a scene of tenderness which may be imagined but cannot be described.

The Pittsburgh Gazette.

TUESDAY, May 19, 1807.

For three or four days during last week, we experienced violent gusts of rain, attended with severe thunder and lightning. On Sunday night and yesterday the Monongahela river rose higher than has been recollected for a number of years. The improvements on the banks of the river must have sustained great injury. Yesterday afternoon a large Mill House, almost entire, drifted past this place, during which time, a number of persons in canoes, &c. were engaged in taking grain from it.

The Kentucky Gazette, of the 28th ult. says, "A gentleman under the sanction of government, is now in this place collecting proofs against Col. Burr. It is reported that he is to proceed to the mouth of Cumberland, and to return to Richmond, (Va.) by the 22d of May next."

On Monday, the 20th ult. two square rigged vessels, whilst passing the Falls of Ohio, were stranded—one belonging to Mr. Lord, the other to Mr. Gilman, of Marietta.

From the Kentucky Gazette, of April 28.

On this day week, two ships were wrecked at the Falls—the one owned by Mr. Clarke, the other by Mr. Jones. Mr. Clarke had also the misfortune to have a boat burnt at Bear Grass, laden with tobacco, etc. at mid-day.—Col. Lord's Ship, after passing the Falls in safety, broke her anchor and drifted on Sandy Island, where it is supposed she will be lost.

Mr. Gallagher's ship did not attempt to cross.

The two gun boats built at Louisville, were launched on Monday last, and are supposed by competent judges to be the best belonging to the government.

VALUABLE INVENTION.

We are authorised to inform the public, that Mr. Daniel Leiberger, an ingenious blacksmith of this place, has invented a new mode of making iron screws for fulling mills, printing offices, etc. which are much more powerful and lasting, than those formerly in use;—the boxes of which he cuts out of the solid iron, without the aid of any brass or brazing whatever,—and which he can furnish at a lower rate. Any person wishing to prove the superior power and advantages of this screw, may see one in operation at Mr. Samuel Way's fulling mill, on Bob's creek, who considers Leiberger's invention as very valuable to manufacturers and mechanics of every description, who demand the use of screws of superior power and permanency; and as highly honorable to the ingenuity of the inventor. ☞ Newspaper printers will serve the community by copying the above. (Bedford Gaz.

From a late Philadelphia paper.

A young lady, born without hands, and only three toes, is now to be seen at the sign of the Stage and Horses, No. 82, North Front-street, Philadelphia. She cuts and works gentlemen's watch papers, and embroiders large flowers fit for framing, on a frame, which are executed in a neat and elegant manner. She is every way well proportioned, except her limbs. She will thread a needle and tie the knot; and does other curious work.

Large flowers fit for framing, worked by the young lady, are for sale at the above place.

Communication.—We have peculiar satisfaction in stating that Miss SALLY ROGERS, the remarkable female artist, whose operations with her mouth in the delicate art of Painting has astonished every spectator, continues to be visited by the laudably inquisitive of both sexes. Gentlemen of the profession who have seen her strange acquired power of producing regular drawings, and finished paintings of birds, flowers, and landscapes, undissentingly pronounced their wonder and approbation. The little feat of threading a needle with her tongue in LESS TIME than ladies generally take to perform the same with their fingers, is interesting and curious; nor can we say less of her facility in cutting paper with scissors, and the apparent ease with which she writes, notwithstanding the total want of power in her hands and feet. She executes together with these, a number of little things, ideally impracticable. From the expression of her countenance we are led to suppose that that God who has bountefully bestowed on her an uncommon happy and tranquil disposition evident from the serenity of her features; it may be here worthy to remark a peculiar glow of health diffuses itself over her countenance, and a patient and contented pleasure seems to beam from her every look. Her intellectual faculties are strong and comprehensive, and feelingly alive to pursuits which dignify the human character.

"Tempers the wind to the shorn Lamb,"

We are informed from a correct source, parental affection, the duties arising from the ties of consanguinity and those springing from other proper considertions are virtues, pre-eminent in her. She exercises her unusual talents in public—and certainly deserves encouragement from

THE WORLD.

From the WESTERN SPY, printed at Cincinnati, April 27, 1807.

On Saturday last Charles Vattier, who was convicted of stealing from general Findlay, receiver of public monies, several sums, exceeding 47,000 dollars—received the following sentence:—

The court sentence, that the said Charles Vattier, pay to the state of Ohio, a fine of 200 dollars—That he pay to James Findlay, Esq. the owner of the property stolen, the sum of 94,000 dollars—That he be imprisoned thirty days, and that he be publicly whipped on his naked back, ten stripes, on the 23d day of May next, at ten o'clock, in the morning—to pay costs of prosecution, and stand committed until sentence be performed.

COMMUNICATION.

CHARLES VATTIER,

A native of France, but for many years a resident in this town, and who has been some time confined in the jail of this county, upon suspicion of robbing gen. James Findlay, the receiver of public monies, of a large sum of money, was indicted this term. On Friday the 10th inst. he was arraigned and the indictment read, and the grand jury found a bill against him, containing three counts or charges—one for burglariously breaking and entering the house of James Findlay and stealing therefrom eight bank notes of 100 dollars each—the other two charges were for stealing from Findlay, American and foreign gold, and bank notes, in all amounting to 47,000 dollars and upwards, to which he pleaded NOT GUILTY—a motion was made by his counsel for a continuance of the cause until next session. Other motions were made, and most of the day was taken up in argument, as were several others—the prisoner's counsel declared it was their object to gain a continuance by any legal means in their power—However on Tuesday the 31st, the trial came on. General Findlay stated he had lost at a variety of times, upwards of 47,000 dollars, this was the sum at a moderate calculation; but he believed he should not be wrong in saying 54,000 dollars: it was proved that Vattier had been in a habit of robbing Findlay for a number of years by means of false keys—this evidence depended on the testimony of Charles Britton, a mulatto fellow, who was formerly a servant to Findlay, and was also an accomplice with Vattier. His relation, which contained a variety of curious particulars, unfolded a tissue of cautious, crafty and systematic villainy, scarcely to be equalled—was told in so plain and unembarrassed a manner, and confirmed in such a number of circumstances by other witnesses, that it seemed impossible to doubt its truth. The prisoner's defence depended on endeavoring to impeach the credit of Britton's testimony, and proving that other persons beside Vattier might have robbed Findlay. The evidence and arguments of the counsel took up nearly four days. On Friday, about 15 minutes before 6 o'clock, P. M. the jury retired, and in about half an hour, or a little more, came into court and brought in a verdict—GUILTY AS HE STANDS INDICTED. A motion was then made by the prisoner's counsel to poll the jury, which was done, and they answered each singly—GUILTY.

PHILADELPHIA EDITIONS OF QUARTO, FAMILY AND SCHOOL BIBLES.

M. Carey.—The variety about 30 kinds.

IT must be highly gratifying to the friends of sacred truth to observe the numerous editions of the holy scriptures which have been printed and circulated throughout this country within a few years past. The English Bible has been given to the public in almost every size, and in almost every style of printing in which it has appeared in Europe; and perhaps the same portion of population, never, in any other country, possessed a number of copies of the sacred text equal to that which is now in the hands of the citizens of the United States. All those who have been concerned in thus multiplying the editions of the scriptures, though they have no doubt, in common with other men, acted with a regard to their own emolument, have still deserved well of the public. They have pursued their own interest, not in competition with the public good, but in a way calculated most directly and extensively to promote it.—Of all those engaged in this kind of typographical enterprise, we consider it a matter of justice to Mr. M. Carey of this city to remark, that his exertions have by far surpassed those of any other individual. At a very heavy expense he has procured more than fifteen tons of type, which are kept constantly standing, ready for a complete edition of the quarto and school Bible. Under these circumstances he possesses numerous advantages over any other publisher of the Bible in the United States; and we believe this to be the only standing edition of the quarto Bible in this or any other country. This plan, while it is highly expensive to the publisher, gives to the public the greatest security that can possibly be given for the fidelity and accuracy of his editions.—To patronise such an undertaking must give pleasure to all those who wish to see the sacred scriptures extensively circulated. This patronage can only be afforded (and without it the publisher cannot be remunerated) by giving a suitable preference to his editions of the Bible, in purchases which are made either for private use or charitable distribution; and such a preference will, we believe, be warranted, not only by the accuracy and excellence, but the cheapness of the books.

TO THE INDEPENDENT ELECTORS OF ALLEGHENY COUNTY.

FELLOW CITIZENS,

I return you my sincere thanks for your repeated suffrages, and being again encouraged by a number of my friends, I take the liberty of soliciting your votes and interest for the Office of SHERIFF at the ensuing Election. Should you continue to think me worthy of the favour, it will be gratefully acknowledged by your friend and humble servant,

THOMAS JONES.

May 14, 1807.

J. COULTER,

Respectfully informs his friends and the public in general, that he has returned to his former

TAVERN HOUSE,

In the Borough of Beaver, Second street,

THIS DAY IS PUBLISHED BY

ZADOK CRAMER,

(Volume first of)

A Dictionary of the Holy Bible:

WHEREIN ARE EXPLAINED,

All the proper names mentioned in the Old and New Testament, of men, women, cities, countries, rivers, mountains, &c.

ALSO

An explication of all the appellative terms; and a systematical description of all the natural productions, such as animals, vegetables, minerals, stones, gems, &c.

FORMING

A body of scripture history, chronology, and divinity; a repository of important Jewish antiquities, and a concordance to the scriptures.

ILLUSTRATED

With a collection of the most elegant maps and plates hitherto executed, and which were never before published in the United States.

By the Rev. JOHN BROWN,
Minister of the Gospel, Haddington.

To which are added for the first time, NOTES, Theological, Literary, Historical, and Illustrative.

☞ The terms of publication are:—Those who subscribed for the work prior to the first day of September, 1806, price six dollars for the two volumes, payable on delivery of the first, and one copy given gratis for every ten subscribers procured, and the same rate of discount for any number above five, the person procuring them becoming responsible for the punctual payment of the money at the time the books are delivered out of the office:—To those who subscribed after the first day of September, 1806, seven dollars, with the same allowances for a number of copies.

It will be noticed by our subscribers and those who may have obtained subscriptions, that we cannot take upon us the responsibility of forwarding their books without special orders, and as frequently as possible we could wish they might be consigned to the care of some agent in town, into whose hands we would deliver them according to order—Subscribers paying all expenses of transportation.

We think it highly probable, from the great demand for this work, that the Edition will soon go off; subscribers, therefore, must not calculate on the publisher's reserving their copies for any length of time; and in order that they may not meet with any disappointment, either as to the getting of their books, or the raising the price thereof, he begs they will take the earliest opportunity possible in calling or sending for them:—This he flatters himself they will have a double motive in doing: the obliging, and remunerating him for the vast expence to which he has been put in giving to his numerous and respectable patrons, (to whom he most respectfully returns his cordial thanks for their zeal and industry on this occasion) a work so valuable in itself, and so highly important and useful to all classes of society; clergy, & laity; learned, and unlearned; philosophers, and naturalists; historians, and geographers; botanists, and mineralogists, &c.—as well as the motive of obtaining for their own and their families' use, volumes of such intrinsic merit, by which they must be insructed and amused, while they become more thoroughly acquainted with the inspired oracles of God, "By which men live," says the pious and learned Mr. Brown, "and in them is the life of our soul."

The second volume is going on as rapidly as industry can make it, and unless we meet with disappointments in supplies of paper, it will be completed in five months from this time. The maps and plates are in the engravers' hands and progress with much elegance and correctness.

Our patrons may rest assured that neither pains nor expense have been spared to make the first volume worthy their approbation, and we hope the second will not degenerate in point of execution; at any rate, it will be considerably larger.

☞ Subscriptions will be thankfully received at the rate of seven dollars, until the whole is completed, when it may be raised to eight.

As the subscribers' names are to be inserted in the last volume, we wish them to be forwarded in time—many have been received, qut we expect many more remain yet to come in.

 Printers who were good enough to lend us their aid by inserting our first advertisement, for which we particularly return them our grateful thanks, we hope will continue their kindness by also taking notice of this.

Pittsburgh, Feb. 13th, 1807.

Pittsburgh, March 30, 1807. tf.

By yesterday's Mail.

NORFOLK, April 29.

The ship Two Brothers, from Liverpool, went up the bay for Baltimore on Monday last, and brings important information. A person who was on board her as she came into the Capes informs, that accounts by her state, that a great battle was fought on the 1st of March between the Russian and French armies, in which the latter were totally defeated with great loss; that in consequence, there had been grand illuminations at Liverpool.

PHILADELPHIA, May 11.

By an arrival at New-York, we are this day in possession of late English accounts. Altho' there is no official authority to rely upon, the concurrent reports from the continent, represent the disasters of the French to accumulate so rapidly upon them, as to threaten their total defeat and repulsion. The Russians, active and persevering in their operations, appear determined not to suffer the enemy to enjoy repose, or recruit their strength in their winter-quarters; while on the other hand the French, harrassed by repeated attacks, enduring hunger and sickness, and consequently weakened by disaffection, are continually changing their positions, in a retrogade direction.

Although these facts are manifest from our last accounts, we have received nothing which can authorise the broad rumours, which, this morning, with electric velocity, pervaded the streets. There has been no decisive engagement;—but the events which are transpiring on the theatre of war, lead to a reasonable hope, that when such an action shall take place, its result will be favorable to the interests and repose of the world.

Lands for Sale.

TWO Tracts of Land laying on Racoon creek, near White's mill, Washington county, Pennsylvania, one containing 393 acres, the other 295 acres. These lands for situation and fertility, are exceeded by none in that part of the country, having been taken up at an early period. On one of which tracts there is a very natural and desirable mill scite,—on both excellent Sugar camps, and on each a tenement cleared sufficient for the support of a small family. The title indisputable. Any person inclining to purchase will please to call on Mr. SAMUEL MERCHANT, adjoining one of the tracts, who will shew them, and for terms to

THOMAS CROMWELL.

Pittsburgh, Dec. 1, 1806. tf.

N. B. If these lands are not sold previous to the sugar season, the sugar camps on each will be let on reasonable terms. T. C.

FOR SALE.
